A Bibliography of John and Charles Wesley . . . . . 1

PREFACE AND ADDENDA TO THE SECOND EDITION

This Union Catalogue was published in 1966 as an admittedly incomplete first step in the very ambitious programme of laying the foundation for publishing the major original works of John Wesley, with the specific aim of identifying all individual works by him and his younger brother Charles, and as far as possible discovering all extant copies of them. Although our main purpose was to identify editions published up to 1791, during the actual lifetime of John Wesley, as a bonus we included some thousands of posthumous editions.

Bibliography. At first we hoped that a fuller descriptive bibliography might speedily follow as the opening volume of Wesley's Works, but it soon became clear that this was neither practicable nor really desirable, if this bibliography were to be analytical as well as descriptive. Our widespread researches revealed both some hitherto unknown items, many more editions, and hosts of additional examples in hundreds of other libraries throughout the world. Many apparently duplicate copies, indeed, turned out to be hitherto unrecognized variant issues, all of which should be examined and described in detail if this were to approach being the definitive work so greatly needed. New typographical refinements of bibliographical techniques were also discovered, and it became clearer that the eventual bibliography could best appear as the gradually ripening fruit of careful research on the collated Wesley text rather than the other way round. Therefore work has proceeded on publication of Wesley's works themselves, with four volumes from the Oxford University Press (1976-1983), and a further seven volumes published along the same lines by the Abingdon Press (1984-1989), with many others either in the Press or being annotated by unit editors.

Union Catalogue, 2nd. edition

From the outset the Directors were clear that the new Bibliography should be arranged differently from that of Richard Green (1896, 1906), upon whose order the Union Catalogue (1966) was based, though with some important modifications. In 1981 a completely new skeleton outline was prepared and circulated to those working on the Wesley project, including some key librarians. After a few trial months the new numberings were crystallized so that they might safely be incorporated as integral references in the Oxford/Bicentennial Edition of the Works of John Wesley. We offer here the substance of the introduction and contents of this outline.

Bibliographical principles. The principles dictating the numbering of items is radically different from that in Richard Green's Wesley Bibliography, though constant cross-reference is made to his numbers. He attempted a chronological arrangement by years, but not within years. Our new system attempts a much more detailed chronological arrangement by the months (and occasionally even days) of publication. Green ignored the presence of series of items; the new one lists each series as a group with consecutively numbered parts (Journal extracts, Minutes, Arminian Magazines, multi-volume works, etc.), and introduces each series with its first chronological appearance, so that Journal extracts I-XXI are numbered 19-39, beginning in June 1740 and ending in August 1791.

The republication of extracts from earlier works have been assigned a number subsidiary to the original work; thus An Extract of the Journal for...1751 is 26.i. Major revisions constituting in essence a new work, or the combination of two or more separate works into a distinct new entity, are given new numbers, with cross-references.

An additional A (or B,C) is occasionally appended to a Bibliography number to designate an integral part of a work which was in fact published separately from it, such as 283A, the Addenda added to some copies of the 1781 Minutes. The same device of an appended letter will be used for any publications which are discovered after this 1781 file has been closed, as was done after the publication of the Union Catalogue.

Listing the editions. In this skeleton outline of the new Bibliography it is impracticable to note the different editions of each work listed, which may in fact display many complexities. There are--very approximately--two thousand separate contemporary editions for the 458 works listed in the first part of the summary. In the full bibliography each of these editions is identified by capital letters in alphabetical order, because the published numbering of many editions is very confusing--there are no fewer than four numbered '20th' in No.59 (Green 33), Charles Wesley's sermon on 'Awake, thou that sleepest', the stemma (genealogical table) of whose 56 editions from 1742 to 1791 (lettered A-3D) appears in Vol.4 of the Bicentennial Edition, pp.437-39, followed by the substantive variant readings occurring in those editions. Of the 151 distinct sermons published in this new edition we list in 4:430-513 no fewer than 638 editions published during Wesley's lifetime either in separate pamphlets or in collected volumes (see 4:425-26). Analytical descriptions and locations of these must necessarily be deferred until the publication of the Bibliography, Part I.

Divisions of the new Bibliography. The bibliography proper is divided into one main and several subsidiary categories, to which groupings of numbers have been allotted, allowing for such expansion as may appear to be necessary.

I. The Main List. Works written or edited and also published by John or Charles Wesley.

Nos. 1-499 (pp.2-29)

SUBSIDIARY LISTS

II. Works published or sponsored by the Wesleys with little supervision other than a commendatory letter.

Nos. 500-590 (pp.30-35)

Union Catalogue, 2nd. editionIII. Wesley writings published by others, including posthumous publications(selected).

Nos. 600-69 (pp.36-38)

IV. Works sometimes attributed to the Wesleys. Nos. 670-99 (p. 39)V. Publishing Ephemera.(a) Book lists separately printed. Nos. 700-99 (pp.40-44)(b) Printed proposals for books. Nos. 800-49 (pp.45-46)(c) Covers for books or magazines. Nos. 850-99 (p.47)(d) Administrative ephemera: circular letters; class-tickets,

A revised reprint of the Union Catalogue has long been called for, as it went out of print fairly quickly. I have been reluctant to undertake this increasingly monumental task myself, for its main purpose as an immediate service to the Wesley project had already been fulfilled, nor was I prepared to invest a great amount of time to incorporate the masses of post-1791 new material which have accrued over the years. I am persuaded by my friends, however, that even without major revision it remains a valuable resource to many Wesley students, and that in view of the long delay that must still be envisaged before even the main list of the new bibliography can be expected, even a straightforward reprint would fill a real need.

In view of this pressure I have agreed to this reprint with limited revisions, and must first make clear what is left incomplete and what is added. I am making no attempt to incorporate cross-references from the Green numbers to the new Bibliography numbers, though it would be relatively simple, if desired, to issue a reprint of the eighty-page summary of the projected new Bibliography, which does incorporate cross-references back to the Union Catalogue, as well as cross-references to the text of Thomas Jackson's edition of Wesley's Works and to the volumes in the Oxford/Bicentennial in which it is planned to incorporate the relevant Wesley publications.

Union Catalogue, 2nd. edition

There is no attempt to incorporate information about the many newly discovered editions of dozens of works, nor to give details of the arduous task of preparing stemmata arranging those editions in the order of their deduced history, though it should be pointed out that this has already been done for the Sermons in Vol.4, and also for many other items in Vols. 7, 9, 11, 18, and 19.

Nor is there any attempt to incorporate the large list of additional libraries whose resources have been explored, or of the new accessions made by libraries whose Wesley holdings have been enriched during the last twenty years.

I have, however, carefully gone through my own interleaved and annotated copy of the Union Catalogue, and have incorporated in the following Addenda all new Wesley publications discovered, with their new U.C. numbers and Bibliography numbers.

N.B. Many items in U.C. have been redistributed to the Subsidiary Lists in the new Bibliography, but these (and any additions to them) are ignored in the Addenda. The original Index is left completely unchanged, as is the list of Errata on p. 220.

ADDENDA

- 14 LOCATION SYMBOLS. Normally only permanent collections are listed, private holdings only if unique.
- 22 5A 7 DISSERTATIONES IN LIBRUM JOBI, by Samuel Wesley, London, Bowyer, 1735. [For John Wesley's massive labours as researcher, translator, editor, promoter, copy-editor, proof-reader, and final publisher, see Frank Baker, 'John Wesley's Publishing Apprenticeship', in The Bulletin of the John Rylands University Library of Manchester, Vol.70, No.1 (Spring 1988).]
- 31 19.i 64 THE FOURTEENTH CHAPTER OF ISAIAH, London, Strahan, Sept.1, 1742. [That the entry in Strahan's ledgers is indeed correct seems confirmed from a MS copy of the poem in the Methodist Archives described as 'from the printed one'. It was reprinted in A Collection of Moral and Sacred Poems, 1744, III.247-52.]
- 46 41B 66 A SECOND LETTER TO CAPT. ROBERT WILLIAMS, [Bristol, Farley], Oct.17, 1742, broadsheet. For details see Wesley's Works, Oxford edn., 26:88-90.]
- 52 47B 76 A LETTER FROM A LATE ROMAN CATHOLICK TO A FORMER CONFESSOR, CONCERNING HIS LEAVING THE ROMISH CONFESSON, by David Jefferies, London, Strahan (for Wesley), August 1743
- 52 47C 80 HYMN FOR CHRISTMAS DAY, London, Strahan, Dec.23, 1743, almost certainly a reprint of Hymns and Sacred Poems, 1739, pp. 206-08, 'Hark how all the welkin rings'. This would appropriately accompany Charles Wesley's London sermon on Sunday, Dec.25, 1743, which was on 'Glory be to God in the highest'.
- [88 134A 164 OUR MINISTER, MR.J.W....[By Charles Wesley, on the Methodist debt, London, c.May 9, 1749, 12mo, 4 pp., Methodist Archives.?)
- 91 139.v 251 WANDERING THOUGHTS. A SERMON PREACHED BY JOHN WESLEY, Bristol, Farley, 1762. [It is now clear that the sermon was published separately before it was incorporated into the 2nd edn. of Sermons III, n.d.]
- 92 142B 184 TO THE WORSHIPFUL THE MAYOR OF CORKE, broadsheet, Cork, Harrison, 1750. [For details and facsimile see Letters, 26:427-28.]
- 110 200.v 241 THOUGHTS ON CHRISTIAN PERFECTION, Bristol, Grabham and Pine, 1760 [There is good but not conclusive evidence that Wesley may have published this separately before adding it to Sermons IV]
- 110 200.vi 242 CHRISTIAN INSTRUCTIONS, EXTRACTED FROM A LATE FRENCH AUTHOR, Bristol, Grabham and Pine, 1760 [See note to 200.v; see also 208A]
- 117 208A 245 CHRISTIAN INSTRUCTIONS, EXTRACTED FROM A LATE FRENCH AUTHOR, BY JOHN WESLEY. Bristol, Pine, 1766. [Translated and abridged by Wesley from Jean Duvergier de Hauranne, Abbe de Saint-Cyran (1581-1643), Lettres Chretiennes et Spirituelles (1649). This was taken by Wesley from the folio works of Arnauld d'Andilly (Paris, 1675). He first printed it in 1760, to fill up space in Vol.IV of his Sermons (pp.269-324). He frequently reprinted it by itself and in various combinations, especially to illustrate his teaching on Christian perfection, including almost certainly the 'French Tracts' of which Strahan printed two thousand copies for him in December 1761. A copy printed by William Pine of Bristol in 1772 is extant in Perkins School of Theology, Dallas, Texas. Cf. also pp.128 (#238B) and 143 (#295).]

- 121 223B 252A SOME QUAERIES HUMBLY OFFERED TO THOSE WHO PROFESS SINLESS PERFECTION, London, Strahan for Wesley, Jan.4, 1763, dropped title, pp.4. [John Wesley to Charles Wesley, Feb.8, 1763, shows that this was written by Martin Madan, lightly edited and published by Wesley. Cf. his Journal, Feb.29, 1768. This item is listed in R.Green, Anti-Methodist Publications, No.597.]
- 133 254A 313 A LETTER, &C, [Bristol, Pine, 1768?], 12mo, pp.7[1], dated New York, April 11, 1768, and signed 'T.T[taylor].' [For a description of this item and its significance see Frank Baker, From Wesley to Asbury, Durham, NC, Duke Univ. Press, 1976, pp. 73-83.]
- 133 254B 307 TO THE SOCIETIES AT BRISTOL, probably Bristol, Pine, March 14, 1768, printed as a broadsheet on the eve of the parliamentary election.
[The seven-year old Parliament was dissolved March 12, 1768, and reassembled May 10. In this Wesley might well have seized the occasion to prepare this urgent warning to 'beware of bribery' in the General Election, which took place the following week, as the opening point in a pastoral letter. This circular he probably wrote at Kingswood on March 13, calling attention also to other undesirable behaviour, and left it with his brother Charles on March 14 to organize its printing and distribution, before setting off for the North, not arriving at Stroud until the evening.]
- 136 268A 332 THE DECLARATION OF THE REV.MR.WESLEY AND OTHERS....TO WHICH IS SUBJOINED THE REV.MR.SHIRLEY'S ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF HIS MISTAKE CONCERNING [THE 1770] MINUTES, Bristol, Pine, August 1771, folio broadsheet.
[Charles Wesley has endorsed the copy in the Methodist Archives, Manchester, 'Shirley's / Non-Acknowledgment / 1770']
- 137 273 330 DUBLIN, JULY 10, 1771. DEAR SIR...n.p., 4to., pp. 4. [Richard Green took this from Tyerman's Wesley, III.97 (citing incorrectly Smith's History of Wesleyan Methodism I.394 instead of I.365), from a copy sent to Mary Bishop by Wesley, with his endorsement thereon of a letter to her dated July 20, 1771. This is still in the collection of Wesley's Chapel, City Road, London.]
- 152 337A 402 TO ALL OUR BRETHREN WHOM IT MAY CONCERN, London, Oct.25, 1779
[An open letter supporting Captain Webb's design to raise troops as a defence against invasion. The MS copy at the University of Michigan must surely be based on a printed original.]
- 153 339A 407 WHEREAS FOR ABOUT TWELVE MONTHS LAST PAST THE PEOPLE CALLED METHODISTS HAVE PREACHED IN A ROOM AT DELPH....Manchester, March 25, 1780
[A plea, signed by Wesley, for support to build a preaching-house in Delph, which was probably printed as a circular. See Tyerman, Wesley, III.324.]

page UC. Bibl. Union Catalogue, 2nd. Edition: ADDENDA

- 162 350A 417 FRIENDS AND BRETHREN....n.p., [August,1781]. [In the nature of the case this plea for the financial support of superannuated preachers must surely have appeared as a printed circular, though no example seems to have survived. See William Myles, Chronological History of the People called Methodists, 4th edn., 1813, p.144.]
- 164 354A 283A ADDENDA. / Q.30....Q.36...FINIS. [These additional four pages are found both separate and misbound after the Minutes for 1782, but the numbering of the questions show that they truly belong after the 1781 Minutes, though the typographical format differs from that of both.]
- 171 371A 425 PROPOSALS FOR ESTABLISHING A SOCIETY TO DISTRIBUTE RELIGIOUS TRACTS [London, broadsheet, January 1782. This John Wesley certainly recommended, and seems to have sponsored, but no copy of the original publication seems to have survived, except as set forth in No.431 below, p.[2], possibly continued on p. 3.]
- 171 371A 431 A STATE OF THE SOCIETY FOR DISTRIBUTING RELIGIOUS TRACTS AMONG THE POOR FOR THE YEAR 1782, London, John Paramore, 1783, 12mo, pp.12. [Copy at Drew University, Madison, New Jersey. On p.[2] is what appears to be a reprint of the original 'Proposals', followed by a recommendation by John Wesley, dated Jan.25, 1782, and by Thomas Coke, May 13, 1783. Coke's testimonial claims, 'the chief labour lies on me', apparently as the Secretary called for in the 'Proposals'.]
- 178 377A 436 A PLAN OF THE SOCIETY INSTITUTED IN JANUARY, 1782, TO DISTRIBUTE RELIGIOUS TRACTS AMONG THE POOR, ? London, Paramore, 1784.
[This notes three basic rules (replacing the former proposals, lists thirty books 'already printed' rather than the twenty-six originally proposed, gives 'An Extract of the Original Proposals', (comprising only Wesley's dated endorsement, with two minor changes), and a drastically altered endorsement by Coke, with the date changed to Oct.27, 1783. Several copies of this are extant, notably: Gb: LO/S-M, B/C-Q, BR/C-W. Us: NcD, NjMD.]
- 185 396B 446 MANCHESTER, APRIL, 1788 [An open letter about the Trustees of the Dewsbury preaching-house endangering the Methodist itinerancy.]
- 185 401A 447 FEBRUARY 3, 1789. DEAR BROTHER... [London], February 1789, 4to, pp. 4.
[A circular addressed to all Assistants calling on Methodists to observe the fast day, Feb.27, 1789, for the recovery of the King, signed on Wesley's behalf by Joseph Bradford. A copy addressed to John Mason, St. Austell, is in the Methodist Archives.]
- 187 408AA 453 A WORD TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN, London, City Road, Feb.25, 1790.
[Wesley here defends himself against his former book steward in London, John Atlay. A broadsheet in the collection of Dr. Oliver Beckerlegge, Cf. Arminian Magazine, 1790, p.328 (June).]
- 188 408D 458 THE REV.MR.WESLEY'S PLAN FROM AUGUST 5 TO OCTOBER 2, 1790
[One page, a copy is in the Methodist Archives.]

The principles dictating the numbering of items is different from that in Richard Green's Wesley Bibliography, though constant cross-reference has been made to his numbering, which is generally familiar, though in several ways less useful than this. He attempted a chronological arrangement on a broad scale, lumping items together without ordering under separate years. This attempts a much more detailed chronological arrangement by months and even days. Green ignored the presence of series of items; this lists each series (such as Journal extracts, multi-volume works, the annual Minutes, the Arminian Magazine, etc., as a group, though each part of that group is assigned its own number--Journal 19-39, etc.

The republications of extracts from earlier works have been assigned a number subsidiary to that; thus An Extract of the Journal for...1751 is 26.i. Major revisions with additions or omissions may be counted as simply new editions, but may be given new numbers--here it is sometimes difficult to be absolutely consistent. The addition of one work to another is normally given a new number, though again there are borderline cases where this is not done. In all such instances cross-references are given (in the full Bibliography, not in this summary) to related items.

This summary takes no account of the different editions of each work listed, which display many complexities--there are approximately 2000 different contemporary editions for the 458 works listed in the first part of this summary. In the full bibliography the different editions are assigned successive letters, A,B,C, etc., as frequently the numbering of those editions is not sufficiently distinctive--there are, for instance, no fewer than three editions numbered '21st' in No.59 in this list. (Green 33).

An additional A (or B,C) is occasionally used to designate an integral part of a work which was in fact published separately from it, such as 283A, the Addenda appended to some copies of the 1781 Minutes, 336A for the Postscript appended to the second issue of No.336, and 371A, B, for two additions printed for insertion in the 1778 Arminian Magazine. The same device of a capital letter added to the previous number will be used for any publications which are discovered after this preent file is closed.

The Bibliography is divided into one main and several subsidiary categories, to which groupings of numbers have been allotted, allowing for other kinds of expansion as a substitute or supplement to addition by letters added to the numbers:

- I. The Main List. Works written or edited and also published by John or Charles Wesley. Nos. 1-499 (pp. 2-29)
  - Subsidiary Lists.
  - II. Works published or sponsored by the Wesleys with little or no literary supervision except possibly a commendatory letter. Nos. 500-599 (pp. 30-5)
  - III. Wesley Writings published by others, including posthumous publications (selected). Nos. 600-69 (pp. 36-8)
  - IV. Works sometimes attributed to the Wesleys. Nos. 670-99 (p. 39)
  - V. Publishing Ephemera:
    - (a) Book catalogues separately printed. Nos. 700-99 (pp. 40-4)
    - (b) Printed Proposals for books, usually by subscription. Nos. 800-49 (pp. 45-6)
    - (c) Book or magazine covers, with contents, letters, advertisements, etc. Nos. 850-99 (p. 47)
    - (d) Administrative ephemera: class-tickets, class-lists; band-tickets, band lists; circuit plans, etc. Nos. 900-99 (pp. 48-9)
- INDEX (pp. 50-82)

[N.B. An index to the manuscripts, magazine articles, etc., which may be incorporated in the Oxford edition, will be available separately.]

Bibliography: Summary: III. 600-8 (Published by others)III. Wesley writings published by others.Included are:

- (a) All original writings, including hymns but usually excepting letters, first published by someone other than the Wesleys. In a few instances publications (other than periodicals) which printed Wesley letters for the first time are listed.
- (b) Selections by others depending wholly or mainly on publications by the Wesleys.
- (c) A few of the more important posthumous publications, especially those incorporating hitherto unpublished work.

Not included are:

- (d) Occasional quotations of passages from Wesley's writings in publications attacking or defending him - mention is made of the more important of these in the introduction to the publication quoted.
- (e) The occasional use in an anthology of a hymn or several hymns already published.
- (f) 'Letters to the editor' in periodicals - these will be listed and reproduced in Letters, Vols. 25-31.

Bibliography: Index: Abstract - Advice[s]INDEX

N.B. This is a combined index to individual works, to authors abridged by Wesley, to editors, and to translators, and to the subjects of works published by Wesley. The titles have been given in a highly abbreviated form, listed under the first significant word, omitting 'On' as well as 'A', 'An', 'The'. In moving from the first significant word in the title of the numerous works which originally began 'An Extract', 'A Letter', 'A Short Account', etc., I have ignored the intermediate words and listed the works in the alphabetical order of the subject--usually the name of a person. The references throughout are to the numbers assigned to the various works.

INTRODUCTION

Wesley's Works. The importance of John Wesley to the world of learning and of religion makes it imperative that a thoroughgoing attempt should be made to secure full information about all his publications in all their editions. Particularly is this so in view of the forthcoming Oxford Edition of Wesley's Works. This will present for the first time a definitive text of all his known original prose writings, based upon a careful collation of the editions issued during his lifetime, and showing all significant variant readings. The opening volume of the series will be a descriptive bibliography which the present writer has been asked to prepare for publication in 1969.

Purpose. Even with its imperfections this Union Catalogue should prove of value to librarians and scholars in general, providing as it does a far fuller listing of Wesley publications and their multifarious editions than has hitherto been available. Nevertheless it must rather be regarded as the first step in a far more ambitious programme. This preliminary survey attempts to identify and locate as many editions as possible of Wesley's publications to prepare the way not only for the projected bibliography but for the new edition of Wesley's works as a whole. It is especially important to discover copies of all editions issued during Wesley's lifetime, for only when the history of the text is known and all contemporary editions have been collated will it be possible to prepare the desired definitive text of his writings.

Preparatory research. The catalogue was first conceived as "a fuller and revised version" of the Union Checklist of Editions of the Publications of John and Charles Wesley, edited for the Methodist Librarians' Fellowship by Arthur E. Jones and Lawrence O.Kline, both of Drew University. Grateful acknowledgment is here made of their pioneer venture as well as of their continuing co-operation and friendship. In 1963 a letter outlining the project was sent to hundreds of major libraries throughout the world. Many co-operated generously in listing their Wesleyana, and others agreed to collate their own collections with the catalogue when it should be ready. It was clear, however, that the foundation of an adequate listing must be laid by personal examination of the holdings of all accessible libraries. Here the strong desire for something approaching completeness was confronted with the formidable obstacles of limitations in energy, time, and money, necessitating compromises. The sympathetic consideration of Dean Robert E.Cushman of the Duke Divinity School greatly helped in making more time available, and generous financial assistance was given by the Research Council of Duke University and the Directors of the Oxford Edition of Wesley's Works. During the last three years I have thus been able to make extensive research tours in the British Isles and North America. In this process it is certain that copies of the major proportion of Wesley editions in the English language have been located, though the three thousand editions envisaged in 1963 as likely have now increased to a known total of over four thousand.

Limitations. Well knowing that I was embarked upon a mammoth undertaking even though its actual dimensions remained speculative, and being impressed with the need to prepare a preliminary survey as rapidly as possible consistent with something approaching completeness, I was compelled to set some limitations which would necessarily affect the kind of coverage given by the finished work. In the early stages of the research I concentrated upon the eighteenth century editions which were most urgently needed in order to arrive at a definitive text. With this in mind I announced that the catalogue would be published in two parts, that covering the post-Wesley period to be deferred for several years. I was therefore content to secure a minimum of details about these later editions, which I believed I should be able to augment when a more leisurely examination was possible. Alas! It eventually became clear that it was far better to issue the whole catalogue as a unity, even if this entailed both further delay and the inadequate description of many items.

A second limitation which I regret (even though it seems almost unavoidable) was the decision to list fully the holdings only of those libraries which possessed something like a hundred eighteenth century editions of Wesley publications. In other cases I listed only unique or very rare items. As a result many of the libraries in which I have worked are not represented in this catalogue, or are represented by only a small proportion of their holdings. Others, however, with smaller Wesley collections, are covered more fully because they were explored at a later stage, after it had been seen as both desirable and possible to enlarge the scope of the catalogue. In the case of fairly common modern editions, however, I have made no attempt to discover the locations of more than a handful of copies, and even of these modern editions themselves I may well have missed a number.

Translations. To document fully the influence of Wesley upon the world at large it would be necessary to discover and list all translations of his publications. I have set out to do this for the eighteenth century only. It is interesting to note that even during his own lifetime some of his works were translated not only into Welsh, but into French and German, and even into Dutch, Swedish, and Russian. Of editions of posthumous translations my listings are very far from complete, and are the result of reports from a handful of foreign libraries and examinations of collections in accessible English-speaking countries. Even so translations have been noted into the additional languages of Danish, Finnish, Hungarian, Korean, Manx, Norwegian, Polish, Spanish, and Swahili. Careful study in foreign libraries and mission centres would undoubtedly reveal hundreds of other such editions in scores of other languages.

Editions listed. The catalogue is clearly incomplete and confessedly uneven in coverage. Nevertheless it indicates the locations in over three hundred European, Canadian, Australian, and American libraries of sixteen thousand copies of four thousand distinct editions (and many variants) of over four hundred publications of the Wesleys. The resources of most of these libraries (as well as of many others) have been personally explored by the compiler, and the majority of the copies listed have been handled. In libraries where personal examination of the full collection was impossible attention was concentrated upon catalogue listings which might possibly indicate hitherto unknown editions, and an attempt was made (not always successfully) to resolve the uncertainties caused either by inadequate catalogue descriptions or the known complexities in the publication of these particular works. In some instances, however, distinctions between apparently identical editions have only been discovered within recent months, and still further subdividing of editions is possible. Where it has not proved practicable to assign a copy of such an item seen at an earlier stage (or possibly not seen at all) its precise designation it has been included under some such general heading as "editions undifferentiated".

Bibliographical descriptions. Analytical bibliography is a very exacting science upon whose threshold I stand with trepidation. The pressures mentioned earlier clearly forbid elaborate bibliographical descriptions in this catalogue, whatever the outcome in the eventual bibliography. The information here given about each edition is only the bare minimum to enable the working librarian to determine without undue difficulty the identity of his own copy: a short title, the number or other designation of the edition if recorded on the title page, the place of publication, the printer, the publisher (if other than Wesley), the format (if other than duodecimo for the eighteenth century or octavo for later centuries), and the number of pages. (The system used for describing pagination is set out under "Signs and Abbreviations" below.) No attempt has usually been made to supply lists of contents, collations, or details about minutiae such as ornaments or press figures, all of which will appear in the forthcoming bibliography, along with the literary history of each work. In the case of rare ephemera, however, (and occasionally elsewhere) contents, catchwords, and typographical variants have been noted as a means of differentiating the editions. All data which have been inferred (other than the pagination of normally unnumbered pages) have been placed within square brackets, together with a query if the inference is more than usually speculative. For details about American Methodist publishers leading to some of these inferential data I am indebted to Miss Elizabeth Hughey, Librarian of the Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Tennessee.

Anonymous and edited works. Almost half of the Wesleys' publications were issued without their name on the title page, and are frequently not indexed under "Wesley", occasionally even in the catalogues of the world's largest and best libraries. These items are noted in the margin of this catalogue as "Anon.", a designation which may be taken as a warning to consult the title catalogue as well as the author index. Another very important factor adding complications for the student of John Wesley's work is that a large percentage of his publications were editions (sometimes severely abridged and occasionally - it must be admitted - unacknowledged) of the writings of other men such as Thomas à Kempis, Richard Baxter, John Norris, William Law, and Jonathan Edwards. Yet most of these works are highly important to a correct estimate of Wesley's own thought, as well as of his literary activities and general influence. Far more than most literary figures he demands consideration not only as author but as editor and publisher. Quite naturally most libraries enter such edited publications under the original author, and frequently give no cross-reference to this main entry under Wesley as editor or publisher. Here again special care is needed to make sure that a library's resources are fully explored. In spite of extensive searches it is certain that I myself have inadvertently missed some such items in libraries where I have worked, and I beg the indulgence of librarians, as well as their co-operation in remedying my deficiencies.

Missing works and editions. Included in this catalogue are several minor items which one of the Wesley brothers certainly published but of which no copy is known. The evidence for most of these comes from entries in the ledgers of the London printer William Strahan. Similarly included are missing editions of known works whose publication can reasonably be deduced from evidence such as gaps in the sequence of numbered editions. It is true that the numbering is frequently chaotic, so that we have (for instance) four "twentieth" editions of Charles Wesley's sermon "Awake, thou that sleepest" (# 33), two dated 1763 and the others 1764 and 1766. Nevertheless the evidence pointing to a missing edition is in many instances almost conclusive, and scores of such deductions have already been confirmed by the discovery of actual copies. It seemed desirable, therefore, to list all items inferred with some certainty, both for the sake of more nearly approaching completeness and in the hope that some librarian might be the more on the alert to the possible discovery of a missing work or missing edition. These desiderata have been indicated by asterisks in the lefthand margin and in the otherwise blank line reserved for the location of copies. At the same time I have tried to avoid listing "ghosts" raised by a faulty reminiscence of a genuine edition, and have eliminated a number of apparently ghost editions listed by Richard Green and other workers. So huge and complex is this task, however, that in spite of diligent application and enthusiastic co-operation it is safe to prophesy that no bibliography of the Wesleys' publications will ever be complete - some of their ephemeral writings we shall never know about, and many editions of their known works we shall never see.

Wesley writings published by others. In a few instances I have inserted items which included important genuine compositions of the Wesleys which were not published by them. This follows Green's practice in the case of works such as James Clark's Montanus Redivivus (# 202C). I have also included some selections from their works and reprints of smaller items when issued as component parts of larger works. I have made no attempt, however, to list excerpts from the writings of the Wesleys occurring incidentally in the publications of other men. In particular I have avoided the impossible task of cataloguing all the works which utilise hymns by John or Charles Wesley, though a few have demanded insertion.

Numbering of works. Although the projected bibliography will almost certainly gather Wesley's publications into major classifications such as sermons, journals, hymns, this present catalogue is keyed to the numbering in Richard Green's The Works of John and Charles Wesley, a bibliography, 1896 and 1906. Green's scheme entailed arranging all this heterogeneous material in strict chronological order of publication, although new evidence shows that in some instances his dating was incorrect. Until more facts have been accumulated it is probably simpler to retain this system, and to employ various devices to incorporate additions and alterations. Items which Green omitted are assigned a number in his sequence, with the addition of a capital letter, such as "18A. The Life of Faith." Similarly works which need re-dating or relocating for some other reason have been given a new number and letter in the regular sequence, but a cross reference directs the student to the original Green number for further details. Thus "78. Swear not at all" and "81. A Word to a Condemned Malefactor" are renumbered 60A and 181A respectively and appear after ##60 and 181, but the editions of these works are listed under #78 and #81.

The reprinting by Wesley of sections from his larger publications presented a special problem. Such items are denoted by small roman numerals as subsections of the earlier work. Thus his Reasons against a Separation from the Church of England (#201) first appeared in his Preservative against unsettled notions in Religion (#191); it is therefore numbered 191.iii, even though for the sake of convenience a cross reference directs the reader to Green's original number for fuller information. This device is helpful for enumerating the many separate reprints of single sermons issued during Wesley's lifetime. Sermons published separately only after his death, however, have been listed as a group by the numbers assigned to them by Thomas Jackson in his standard edition of Wesley's Works, and appear under the general heading of "420.iii.Sermons: Single Sermons." This latter is one of several numbers added to designate posthumous Wesley publications, particularly collected editions of his sermons, journals, and letters, and selections from his writings. (Green's original sequence ended at 417.) An alphabetical index of titles and of authors edited by Wesley is appended.

Bibliographies and catalogues. Many printed bibliographies and catalogues have been consulted in addition to Richard Green's work and the Union Checklist of Arthur Jones and Larry Kline. Bibliographical work on American editions is particularly prolific, though very uneven in quality. I have carefully perused the tentative checklist prepared by my friend Leland D. Case for his Bibliography of 18th Century Methodist-related American imprints. This makes much use of the standard work, Evans' American Bibliography, and of the valuable supplementary lists in course of publication by Roger P. Bristol, which I have also studied. In this catalogue I have inserted the relevant reference numbers in Evans, especially as microcards of these publications are widely available. (The many "ghosts" in Evans have been ignored, as well as the holdings in many libraries of Evans microcards.) For the period 1801-1820 there is available American Bibliography: a preliminary checklist, compiled by Ralph R. Shaw and Richard H. Shoemaker. Here again I have inserted the relevant reference numbers, though I should perhaps point out that my own researches have uncovered many American editions not known to the compilers and many other located copies of editions which they do list. It was my original intention to include no material from such lists without personally checking it, but a few exceptions have been made for the sake of greater completeness. I have also included the rarer Wesley items noted in the national union catalogues at Washington and Ottawa, as well as those in the metropolitan union catalogue at Philadelphia. Many other bibliographies and catalogues, however, have added nothing, and are therefore not mentioned by name.

Location symbols. The choice of symbols to denote the libraries possessing copies of the various editions has presented much difficulty, especially as this catalogue was intended as an international project. The original listings were made with the aid of what were to me brief and simple mnemonics such as "BM" for the British Museum, "TCD" for Trinity College, Dublin, and "DR" for Drew University. Some months ago, however, the Methodist Librarians' Fellowship confirmed my own doubts whether this set of symbols devised for a special task would prove of the fullest service to librarians in general. Accordingly I have altered all the sixteen thousand symbols, and rearranged them in groups under abbreviated headings indicating the countries to which they belong. For the United States (Us:) I have used the symbols by which libraries are designated in the eighth edition of Symbols used in the National Union Catalog of the Library of Congress, or by similar symbols approved by Mr. George A. Schwegmann, Jr., Chief of the Union Catalog Division. A few items from American Bibliography, 1801-1820, are noted with symbols derived from the Location Symbols for Libraries in the United States published in 1939 in connection with the American Imprints Inventory, together with the additions and corrections of 1941; this work also was checked by Mr. Schwegmann, and is gradually being incorporated into the National Union Catalog.

Symbols for Canadian libraries (prefixed Ca:) are already based upon the same system as that used in the United States, and are printed in the Library of Congress' Symbols. They presented no problem. The United Kingdom proved much more difficult. The obvious thing would seem to be to follow those used in the British Union Catalogue of Periodicals (BUCOP). This, however, is in process of radical revision, and the editor, Mr. K. I. Porter, was unable to assign symbols to all the libraries which I listed. In accordance with his suggestion I devised a compromise, using the basic geographical symbols officially adopted for the major British library areas and types, and subdividing by means of mnemonics where no number had already been assigned. In accordance with approved international practice, and with no implied disregard for Northern Ireland, these symbols follow the prefix Gb:. In the comparatively few instances of libraries in other countries which reported holdings for the catalogue I have used mnemonic symbols following an abbreviated description of the country based on the international system for automobile registration plates: thus Denmark is "Dk:", Poland "Pl:" etc.

Acknowledgments, an apology, and a hope. I wish to acknowledge my indebtedness to the many librarians who have assisted this work by affording me ready access to their collections, and by other generous help which went far beyond the line set by duty. I have tried to reciprocate by pointing out unknown or uncatalogued Wesley editions among their holdings, or various errors in description. Exigencies of time and energy, however, have not always made this possible to the fullest degree. At one stage I pondered adding the notation "not catalogued" where I listed items which were certainly possessed by libraries but not indicated in their public catalogues. For various reasons, however, I decided against this. There may be several instances, therefore, where a library's catalogue will not confirm the listings here given. Undoubtedly this will sometimes be due to a mechanical error arising at some stage in the complicated production of this catalogue. In others, however, it will be because the item concerned is included in a volume of pamphlets whose contents are not fully catalogued by the library, whether through intention or inadvertence, or because it is listed only under its title or its original author, with no cross reference to Wesley as editor and publisher. May I plead, therefore, that a student confronted by such a discrepancy does not immediately call down wrath upon my distant head, and if after some additional research it seems clear that the error is in fact mine, that he accept my humble apology. It is altogether too much to hope that in the protracted and exacting task of noting many thousands of editions, transcribing notes, altering and rearranging all symbols, and retyping the whole manuscript for publication, no error has crept in. I shall value corrections as well as additions, and trust that with all its imperfections this Union Catalogue may further the knowledge and understanding of those great spiritual leaders of the eighteenth century, John and Charles Wesley.

SIGNS AND ABBREVIATIONS

- Pagination:
- [2] = two unsigned and unnumbered preliminary pages not counted in the printer's register of gatherings.
  - xii = twelve pages correctly numbered i-xii with or without () or [], including pages unnumbered in normal practice, such as the title page and its verso and the first page of the preface. Irregularities in numbering are shown by fuller details or by notes in brackets, or both, as in "i-iii,vi-xii [? copies seen imperfect]".
  - 298 = pages numbered 1-298 except where it is normal practice to leave them unnumbered, as in the case of first pages of sections or chapters, or internal titles and their blank versos. Irregularities noted in detail as with roman numbering.
  - (iii) = three unnumbered pages of printed matter distinct from the regular text of the work, e.g. index or advertisements.
  - [3] = three blank pages.
- Signatures:
- @1 = one unnumbered and unsigned preliminary leaf prefixed to the printer's regular sequence of gatherings. ["@" is here used to represent the preferable Greek letter "pi".]
  - [A]4,B-C4 = four leaves unsigned, the signature "A" inferred, followed by two gatherings of four leaves each regularly signed.
  - B4a,B4b = the recto (verso) of the fourth leaf of gathering "B".
  - χ2 = two unnumbered and unsigned leaves additional to the regular sequence of gatherings. [The two superimposed characters "χ" and "2" here represent the Greek letter "chi".]
- Other signs:
- #, ## = number(s)
  - ** = a work or edition of which no copy is so far known and about which information is requested.
  - 3 (in left margin) = an edition described on the title page as "3rd" or "Third".
  - 4to, 8vo, 12mo, 16mo, 24mo, 32mo (i.e. quarto, octavo, duodecimo, etc.) = format having that number of leaves in a normal gathering.
- Abbreviations:
- AB = American Bibliography, 1801-1820.
  - adv. = advertisement (e.g. a publisher's booklist).
  - Am. = American
  - c. = circa = approximately
  - cont. = continued
  - corr. = corrected
  - cw = catchword (at right foot of page).
  - ed. = edited
  - edn(s) = edition(s)
  - Evans = Evans, American Bibliography.
  - Green = Green, The Works of John and Charles Wesley.
  - ht = head-title (i.e. title forming upper part of a page of text, which occasionally carries an imprint at the foot).
  - illus. = illustrated
  - im = imperfect copy; minor imperfections such as a missing half-title or blank leaf, or an occasional slightly defective or supplied page, are ignored; a missing or badly defective page (including the title page) leads to a copy being described as imperfect.
  - MEC = Methodist Episcopal Church
  - mf = microfilm copy
  - nd,np,np = no date, no place of publication, no printer.
  - pc = photocopy
  - p.,pp. = page(s)
  - rev. = revised
  - sig. = signature (at foot of rectos of early leaves of gathering; see under Signatures above).
  - ster. = stereotyped
  - vol(s). = volume(s)
  - WCO = Wesleyan Conference Office.
  - WMBR = Wesleyan Methodist Book Room.

14A. A CONTINUATION OF THE REV. MR. WHITEFIELD'S JOURNAL....

The Wesleys' younger friend and collaborator normally ended the famous extracts from his journal with a hymn, and from his second journal these hymns were usually furnished by the Wesleys. Sometimes they came from already published volumes, but it seems possible that one or two were printed from the Wesleys' manuscripts. The occurrence of these hymns and the contemporary editions of the journals in which they were thus given wider circulation is here summarised, but with no attempt to provide more than a few locations of the various editions - which are, however, very rare.

44. A WORD IN SEASON: OR, ADVICE TO A SOLDIER.

[N.B. Undated tracts. A handful of Wesley's tracts undoubtedly went through many editions, but many or all of these were published without any hint of the place of publication, the printer, the date, or the number of the edition. It has been possible to differentiate many editions, but in most instances it has so far been impossible to date them or even to place them in their probable order of publication. It is hoped to remedy this to some extent by further research, including the careful collation of minutiae in the typography of the different editions. This general note applies in particular to this # 44, and also to ## 57, 74, 76-79, 81, 82, 97, 98.]

60. HYMNS FOR TIMES OF TROUBLE. [15 hymns; published before # 59] [Anon.]

- [A] [? London, Strahan, 1744], pp.12. p.(3), no leading after line 5; p.4, "Couragious" in line 5 from foot, catchword "V.By" for "V.By"; p.8, "II" omitted before stanza of Hymn III; rules after all hymns except last. [A]6

This is probably the same as the "Hymns for the Year 1744" of which Strahan printed 3000 for Wesley on March 1, 1744, and a further 3000 on March 17; unless variants are discovered it will remain likely that this second printing was from standing type.

63. A FARTHER APPEAL TO MEN OF REASON AND RELIGION. [Part I; cf. ## 47,64]

London, Strahan, 1745, pp.(ii),104,(ii). Hymn and letter at end; erratum slip.

P.15, line 1, reads "Remotely, as it is necessary to the Increase or Conti-", erratum showing that after "necessary" should be inserted "Faith: And the Fruits of Repentance still more remotely, as they are necessary to"; also on p.15, lines 20-21, "There is great Indiscretion in preaching up a Sort Religion" [i.e. omitting "of"]. [A]1,B-I6,K5

P.52, catchword "Upon" with twisted letters; p.79, inverted "m" in catchword "Roman". Variants in other points known, but information requested of any deviations from points noted above, which may lead to discovery of missing editions.

Title page quotes Psa.cxli.5, and states "(Price Bound One Shilling)"; a similar title page was issued with "(Price Unbound One Shilling)", but so far this is only known attached to # 64, where it is cognate with A6. Yet in later editions the text on the tp of # 64 was altered to Isaiah lviii.1.

64A. BOOKS PUBLISHED BY THE REV.MR.JOHN AND CHARLES WESLEY.

[N.B. Advertisements of earlier publications occasionally appear on inseparable pages of the Wesleys' publications; with these we are not here concerned. From the early years, however, they also advertised by means of booklists published separately from the books themselves. Sometimes these lists used up a spare leaf or leaves of a sheet being printed for a work which did not itself readily make up to a convenient number; even if not separated for independent use these were frequently lost in binding. They are represented in this catalogue by "(ii)", "iv" or a similar notation, usually at the end of the pagination formula. Lack of these pages is not noted as an imperfection, because it is far from certain that the list was intended to remain an integral part of the book, and occasionally the same list appears in two publications.

An imperfect attempt is here made to list these independent book catalogues, using the unique list issued in 1746 as the focal point, even though it is by no means the first. Because of the important light which such lists throw on the Wesleys' publishing activities information about any similar issues will be greatly appreciated. No lists published after Wesley's death in 1791 have here been recorded. The locations given are not intended to provide a complete survey, but simply representative examples, where it is known that the list is added to the publication. In noting the number of publications listed the actual numbering of the original is followed, even when incorrect, as when some numbers are used twice; any unnumbered items are then noted, e.g. "163 + 1 items."

205. SELECT HYMNS: WITH TUNES ANNEXT: DESIGNED CHIEFLY FOR THE USE OF THE PEOPLE CALLED METHODISTS. ["Preface....John Wesley" in some] [Anon.]

[N.B. The bibliography of this publication is complex, especially so for the first two editions. Each of the first four editions was a composite of two or more units, which were occasionally bound in different combinations, omitted, or issued independently of the main work. Units or particular editions of units normally associated with one edition of Select Hymns are sometimes found with another. In the following list the normal contents of what I take to be an "ideal copy" of each edition is set out, together with the location of all known copies of that edition, though without stating whether or not each copy matches the "ideal copy". Subsequently the different units are listed, with fuller bibliographical details and information about the editions of Select Hymns in which they normally occur; at this later stage copies of the units known to be held by various libraries are listed, together with an indication of any known abnormality in their occurrence.]

[1] London, np, 1761, pp.iv,5-139,[1],(iv); xii; 5-104,(vi).

Collation: A-L6,M4,12; [A6]engraved; [A-2C2]engraved, [2D1]. A-C2

In A-L6,M4 the second leaf of each gathering is unsigned; in A-L6 the third leaf is always correctly signed.

Gatherings K and L are both numbered 109-120.

There are no press figures, no ornaments except typographical ones.

Contents: (i) (a) printed title-page, verso blank.

(b) "PREFACE", p."(iii)", followed by "iv PREFACE" running-title, signature "JOHN WESLEY." and catchword "SEL CET".

(c) pp."[5]"-"[139]", beginning with head-title "SELECT HYMNS." 133 hymns, numbered "I."-"LXXVII.", "LXXVII.", "LXXVIII."-"CXXXII." Hymn 61 numbered "XLI."

(d) "Index", on four unnumbered pages, on cognate leaves forming a separate unsigned gathering.

(ii) "i/ The Gamut, or Scale of Music." Engraved pp."i."-"xii". For details see # 205.ii.[A]. No sigs; ? sewn in pairs.

(iii) (a) pp."5."-"104."; numbered tunes for all hymns 1-133, most tunes assigned to more than one hymn, beginning:

"HYMN 1.2.3. 5.

Old German Shortest Measure."

all pages are engraved, and apparently bound throughout in pairs of cognate leaves, unsigned. See # 205.iii.

(b) "INDEX." to names of tunes, giving page and number of hymn; five unnumbered unsigned pages, engraved, the first four apparently on cognate leaves.

Collation: A-N6,01,P4; @1 engraved; [A-C2] engraved; [A-2F2,2G1] engraved; X2. In A-N6,01,P4, all third leaves are signed, and all second leaves except B,D-F,M,P; K3 verso is also signed "K3".

Sig. "O" and catchword "INDEX" are omitted from p.153 in Us: IEG(3). There are no press figures, no ornaments except typographical ones.

Contents: (i) (a) printed tp, verso blank.

- (1) (b) "(iii)/[typographical headpiece]/PREFACE-", "iv PREFACE... JOHN WESLEY. / SELECT"
(c) "SELECT HYMNS", pp."[I]"-"[153]", one page blank; 149 hymns numbered "I."-"CXLIX." Hymn 104 numbered "IV."

The hymns are the same up to No.129 in the 1st edn, No.130 in the 2nd ("I'll praise my Maker"); the former No.130 ("Thee will I love") is replaced by a new No.131 ("O God of good th'unfathom'd sea"); hymns 134-149 are added.

- (d) Index to first lines, with references to pages and hymns, on five unnumbered pages, followed by three blank pages.
(ii) (a) Sacred Melody, engraved tp, "Bland Sculp", verso blank.
(iii) Gamut, engraved pp."i."-"xii"; for details see # 205.ii.[B].
(ii) (b) engraved pp."1."-"112." Numbered tunes for all hymns 1-149, most tunes assigned to more than one hymn, beginning:

" HYMN 1.2.3. 1.
Old German. "

[The plate from edition [1] is retouched for this, and "Shortest Measure" is not fully erased]

PP.1-98 are from the same plates as the [1] edn, with the page numbers altered from 5-94, with occasional metrical descriptions erased, and a few minor retouchings, New plates were prepared to match the varying contents for pp.95-6 (together with a retouching of the head of p.97) and pp.101-112 (together with a retouching of the foot of p.100). Other new plates were used in different issues, of which the following have been noted:

Bristol, Pine, 1765, 4to, pp.(i),[1],(iii)-ix,[1],(l)-852; (i),[1],853-1716; (i), [1],1715(sic)-2613,[1]. Signed to make 2 vols, but usually bound in 3;
published in weekly numbers of three gatherings each. A-14Q4,14R2

Many press figures present. Variants in opening numbers, sigs.A-F,O.

[A] A2a(p.iii), para.3, line 1, "the last particular";

A4a(p.vii), 4th line from foot, "derer-/minate"; etc.

Fla(p.33), "Numb.2."

Ola(p.93), has page number "98".

Press figures: A4a,"2"; B3a,"2"; B4a,"1"; C3a,"1"; D3a,"1"; etc.

[B] A2a(p.iii), para.3, line 1, "the last in particular";

A4a(p.vii), 4th line from foot, "deter-/minate";

Fla(p.33), "Numb.II."

Ola(p.93) has page number corrected to "93".

Press figures missing from A4a-D3A (pp.vii-19).

Other minutiae show that these gatherings have been reset.

Errors in pagination: 76-77 followed by 76-77; 1715-1716 followed by 1715-1716, so that total is in fact 2617; "98" for 93 [corrected in [B], "1231" for 1237, "1918" for 1618, "1749" for 1739, "1716" for 1816, "7824" for 1824, "1889" for 1899, "1563" for 2563, "1571" for 2571.

[N.B. From this point, even more than earlier, it is almost impossible to derive from the evidence of motley sets any clear pattern of publication, especially as the occasional dates on the title pages are not always to be trusted. A case in point is the compiler's own set, which would probably be described as "London, Hayman, Christy & Lilly for WMBR, 2 Castle Street and 66 Paternoster Row, [c.1889-1897]", because it is uniformly bound, containing the monograph "WMBR" on every spine. Yet in fact the only volumes which may truly be so described are 6,7, and 10-14. Of the others the title pages of volumes 1,3, and 5 read "26 Paternoster Row" (an address apparently used from about 1897) and omit the printers' names. The title page of Vol.9 has the impossible combination of the date 1872 and the address 26 Paternoster Row, coupled with the imprint of "Hayman, Christy and Lilly" - the designation assumed by the firm in 1889-90! This leads me to doubt also the accuracy of the date 1872 given on volumes 2 and 4, which were printed by Harmer and Harley for the Wesleyan Conference Office, as was the undated Vol.8, though this time for the Wesleyan Methodist Book Room. The most that at present seems reasonably possible is to list the different features of identification, and to give one or two examples of each.]

396. A POCKET HYMN BOOK, FOR THE USE OF CHRISTIANS OF ALL DENOMINATIONS.

[250 hymns. Preface, "John Wesley...Nov.15, 1786." Cf. # 385.]

[N.B. Robert Spence of York issued a pirated edition of Wesley's Collection of Hymns, # 348, and then revised it to form A Pocket Hymn Book. Wesley followed Spence's example by publishing his own pocket hymn book. Spence's editions of Wesley's hymns became more popular than Wesley's own, possibly through the influence of Dr.Thomas Coke, whose bookseller sold them. They are here listed briefly by way of introduction to Wesley's publication.]

- # 421.ii. POETICAL WORKS: SELECTIONS.

[N.B. It is clearly impracticable, if not impossible, to list all selections from the hymns of the Wesleys, for they have found their way into thousands of works, from hymnbooks to local histories, from tracts to doctrinal treatises. All that is attempted here is a listing of what are believed to be the major selections, and of a few others which hold some special significance, arranged in the chronological order of publication. Cf.## 138.iv,v,158A,165A,183A,371D,396.]

- (1) "Eupolis's Hymn to the Creator", beginning "Author of Being, source of light". [This was first published on pp.71-4 of the 1737 Collection of Psalms and Hymns (# 6), and was the first item in the 1739 Hymns and Sacred Poems (# 15); when John Wesley inserted it in his Collection of Moral and Sacred Poems (# 58) he ascribed it to his father. He thought so much of it that he also used it in Vol.1 of the Arminian Magazine (# 333). It has frequently been ascribed to Charles Wesley, as in the following:]

INDEX

N.B. This is a combined index to individual works, to authors abridged by Wesley, to editors and to translators, and to the subjects of biographies published by Wesley. The titles have been given in a highly abbreviated form, listed under the first significant word, omitting "On" as well as "A", "An", "The", and occasionally in the case of late reprints opening phrases such as "An Abridgment of", "An Extract of", "A Sermon on". In moving from the first significant word in the title of the numerous works which originally began "An Extract", "A Letter", "A Short Account", etc., I have ignored the intermediate words and listed the works in the alphabetical order of the subject - usually the name of a person. The references throughout are to the numbers assigned to the various works, and only to the pages when "p." is prefixed.
